Parcels43 was set up by families of service personnel with total support in mind. We have our own 24/7 forum where you can chat, get support or general advice or even have a moan on a bad day.....nobody will judge you as support is what we are all about.

Parcels43 also hosts a number of campaigns, please support these if you feel you would like to. Here in the UK we are lucky enough to be able to voice an opinion, please help us and others to make a difference.

Please also be aware we are a public domain site and forum and we have rules that we would ask users to follow...this is for the safety of all who use the site.

We are a totally voluntary group and welcome donations via our paypal link or cheques made payable to Parcels43. If you are a company and would like to support us in any way please get in touch via the contact link.

Finally please do come along and take a look, read our news items and post in our forum. We are a varied bunch and we want to be there for all who need us. Hope to see you on Parcels43 real soon.
